

What will I study?	You will study the key aspects of film form, starting with mise-en-scène , as part of the Core Areas of Film Studies. This will include an introduction to the formal components that make up a film, such as editing, sound design, and camera shot sizes.
Who teaches this course?	John Fitzgerald David Watts Jeremy Grant
What resources or equipment will I need?	Paper, pens, access to online resources.
Reading List	❖ Online Resources: ➤ Mise-en-scène ➤ Editing ➤ Sound design ➤ Camera shot sizes
How can I extend my learning?	Explore additional content on Studio Binder's website for more insight into the formal elements of film.

Induction Activity: To be completed and brought to your first lesson

Resources needed to complete the activity:	Internet access
Estimated time to complete the activity:	2–3 hours

Taster Activity: To be completed and brought to your first lesson

Studio Binder provides an excellent introduction to the formal components which make up a film. We will be studying this throughout the entire course as they are part of the Core Areas of study.

Over the summer we would like you to click on the link below and work your way through the material on mise-en-scene. All the information that you need is provided on this link.

<https://www.studiobinder.com/blog/mise-en-scene/>

Tasks:

1. When you have worked your way through this, take a film that you know well and have access to and pick a short scene (between 2-5 minutes) and write down anything significant about how mise-en-scene provides meaning under the following headings.
 - Sets/locations
 - Use of props
 - Lighting
 - Costume
 - Blocking
 - Shot composition
2. Click on one of the links below to find some of Studio Binder's other resources and work your way through the material.

Editing

<https://www.studiobinder.com/blog/what-is-film-editing-definition/>

Sound design

<https://www.studiobinder.com/blog/what-is-sound-design-for-film/>

Camera shot sizes

<https://www.studiobinder.com/blog/types-of-camera-shots-sizes-in-film/>